PROJECTS

PageTurners　(React, Redux,　Ruby on Rails)
Live Site | Github
A single page webapp for users to track and review the books they've read, and see what others are reading
- Utilized a combination of React's responsive rendering, and inline CSS style to dynamically graph users ratings
- Designed a composite of back-end fetching and front-end computation to effectively minimize both the amount of data that needs to be sent, and the front-end scalability of the review system.
